Reflections

"O give thanks to the Lord, for he is good; his steadfast love endures forever!" (Psalm 118:1)

Easter Sunday in southern California is usually a bright and warm day. I don't remember much rain at all on that day. It was a day I got to wear my brand-new Easter dress—you know, all decked out with my new Easter hat, gloves, new purse and shoes. The Easter bunny came early in the morning and my brother and I had a great time finding eggs all over our living room while our parents grabbed a few extra zzz's. After church, we hid the eggs for each other to find in our back yard. It was lots of fun! Everyone has their own traditions.

It wasn't until I was much older that I started to learn about Holy Week. I found that it was important to me to realize that there was more to Jesus' resurrection than Palm branches and Easter celebrations. It became important to experience the dark side of the story—to walk with Jesus through his Last Supper, prayer in Gethsemane, arrest, trial, beatings, bearing his cross down the Via Dolorosa, and death in order to make sense of the Resurrection. It's so easy to jump from celebration to celebration without realizing the cost.

This year, we are walking with Jesus through uncharted territory. The cost is all too real. Suddenly, schools and businesses closed. Suddenly, we're told to stay home. Suddenly, there is news of someone we know with the COVID-19 virus or at least someone we know knows someone with the virus. Yet, we are walking with Jesus. He understands what we are feeling, he has been through suffering and pain. We can count on his enduring and steadfast love to surround us in our scariest of times.

This year pull out that "Jesus" movie from the bottom of the pile and watch it. Open your Bible to one of the gospels and read the WHOLE book from birth to resurrection. Perhaps even read it out loud to the family. Walk with Jesus through his Passion as though you are there with him. Cry for him.

Then, when Easter Sunday comes, and we are locked in our own "Upper Room" along with the other disciples in our houses, the Lord's resurrection will take on a whole new meaning. Mary Magdalene's discovery will bring extreme joy!

This Easter will be different from any other year we have ever known, but this year, perhaps our celebrations will be the most meaningful of all. This week, as we continue to walk through the valleys of this pandemic, feeling all of it, let's remember the end of the story: HE IS ALIVE! Jesus Christ is risen, just as he said! (Matthew 28:6). ". . .his steadfast love endures forever!"

Peace and good health. Stay safe!

The Monster in the Sun (attributed to Aesop)

An astronomer observed the sun through a telescope in order to make a drawing of the several spots that appear on its face. While he was in the midst of his task, he was surprised by an astounding appearance: A large portion of the sun was suddenly covered by a monster of enormous size and form. It had huge wings, a great many legs, and a long nose. The astronomer knew it was alive because he could see its movements.

The man made some calculations and learned the size of the animal would cover half of the earth's hemisphere and that it was seven or eight times as big as the moon. It was also astonishing what heat it could bear as it crawled upon the sun.

The astronomer gathered many of his colleagues, and they were astounded by the accuracy of his observations. Yet, there was one that was more cautious than the rest, and before making the news public he wanted to investigate further. He opened the telescope and found a small fly trapped inside. Thus the monster was eliminated from the sun.
